replaced by Synodical Societies which took as their boundaries those used by the Synods of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. In the four western provinces this amounted to a change of name but the two Provincial Boards of Quebec and Ontario became the three Synodical Societies of Montreal & Ottawa, Toronto & Kingston and Hamilton & London.

The executives of the Provincials consisted of an annually elected Board of Management and officers from the Presbyterials who sat ex officio. From 1917 the Provincial Presidents sat on the Executive Board of the W.M.S.(W.D.). The Provincials were responsible for carrying out the recommendations of the Council of the W.M.S.(W.D.), for organizing Presbyterials and for the general oversight of the work of Presbyterials. The Synodicals were given similar responsibilities when they replaced the Provincials in 1946.

In the eastern division of the Presbyterian Church in Canada there was only one women's missionary society. It was first known as the Halifax Woman's Missionary Society, then as the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society (Eastern Division), then the Woman's Foreign and Home Missionary Society and then as the Women's Missionary Society (Eastern Division). In 1986 it was re-named the Atlantic Mission Society. The same system of Presbyterials was adopted but Provincial Boards and Synodicals were not introduced.

Archival Arrangement

This collection consists of the records of the Provincials, Synodicals and Presbyterials of the women's missionary societies of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. The Provincials and Synodicals are listed in alphabetical order, and there are cross references to the names of the relevant predecessor or successors. In the case of the four western Provincials, which became Synodicals with no boundary or name changes, the records are continuous and so have not been separated. The Presbyterials are listed separately, again in alphabetical order. It should be noted that as Presbytery boundaries and names changed, the Presbyterials likewise changed their boundaries and names, but often there was no attempt to start new records concurrently with such changes. Thus, unless there is a clear break in the records which co-incides with a change of name, the records have been retained under the later name. Where necessary there are cross-references to predecessors or successors.

The records of the different societies in the western section which existed prior to 1914 have been included under the name of the current Presbyterials which took over their work. These records are identified by the name of the society. All other records are of the W.M.S. (W.D.) or of the W.M.S.(E.D.)/ Atlantic Mission Society.

Under the name of the Provincial, Synodical or Presbyterial, the records are listed in a standard order. Minutes and minute books are listed first, followed by annual reports, financial records, records from annual meetings, anniversary records, records of officers and other records. The description given for the first item of each type of record is generally applicable to the other items for each Provincial, Synodical or Presbyterial: where this is not the case each item is described individually.

In addition to the records of the Provincials, Synodicals and Presbyterials there is also included at the end of the list the records of any Auxiliaries which were not formed within a congregation. The records of all other Auxiliaries are listed with the congregational records.

The finding aid is listed as FA-WMSSP.

Introduction

This collection contains the records of the Provincials, Synodicals and Presbyterials of each of the various women's missionary societies of the Presbyterian Church in Canada from 1864 to the present. The societies represented in this collection include the Montreal Women's Missionary Society, the Women's Foreign Missionary Society (Western Division), the Woman's Home Missionary Society, the Women's Missionary Society (Western Division) and the Women's Missionary Society (Eastern Division). Most of the records currently in the collection come from Presbyterials in Ontario. The records have been deposited at intervals and it is expected that there will be further accruals, both from Synodicals and Presbyterials listed here and from Presbyterials which have not yet transferred their records to the Archives.

Records for Provincials, Synodicals and Presbyterials for the period after 1925 which are not in this collection are still held by the relevant Synodical or Presbyterial. Records for the period before 1925 may be held by the Synodical or Presbyterial of the Women's Missionary Society (W.D.) or the Atlantic Mission Society, both of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, or by the women's missionary societies of the United Church of Canada, or in the relevant Conference Archives of the United Church of Canada. It should be noted that in some cases the 1925 division led to only the records immediately prior to 1925 going to the United Church while the continuing Presbyterians retained earlier records.

There are no restrictions on access to these records.

The arrangement and description of these records was undertaken by Elspeth Reid, supervised by Kim Moir, in 1988. The work was funded by the Arrangement and Description Backlog Reduction Cost-Shared Co-operative Program and by a grant from the Women's Missionary Society (Western Division) of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Historical Sketch

In the western division of the Presbyterian Church in Canada there were three separate women's missionary societies: the Montreal Women's Missionary Society, formed in 1864, the Women's Foreign Missionary Society (Western Division) formed in 1876, and the Woman's Home Missionary Society, founded in 1903. These amalgamated in 1914 to form the Women's Missionary Society (Western Division). Each of these three societies were initially organized on the basis of a central board of management or executive with Auxiliary Societies in the congregations. As the number of Auxiliaries increased, the need for a representative body at an intermediate level in the two larger societies became apparent. In common with other women's missionary societies in the United States, the W.F.M.S. (W.D.) paralleled the structure of Presbyterian church government and set up Presbyterial Societies where there were sufficient numbers of Auxiliaries within the bounds of a Presbytery. The first Presbyterials in Hamilton and Kingston began as separate societies and united with the W.F.M.S. (W.D.) in 1879 and 1885 respectively. The W.H.M.S. also established Presbyterials from 1906 onwards. In 1907 an agreement was reached between the W.H.M.S. and the W.F.M.S. (W.D.) to permit their Presbyterials to work together or amalgamate if local conditions warranted this. When the three societies amalgamated in 1914 the system of Presbyterials was retained and Presbyterials within each Presbytery were combined.

Presbyterials were responsible for the oversight of the work of the Auxiliaries within their bounds. The Auxiliaries and affiliated societies sent delegates to an annual meeting of the Presbyterial where the Presbyterial officers and executive were elected. The Presidents of Auxiliaries and leaders of Girl's groups and Children's groups were ex officio members of the Presbyterial executive.

With the formation of the Women's Missionary Society (Western Division) a further tier of representation was required. This was provided for by a system of Provincial Boards. As the name implies these were based on the civil boundaries of the Provinces of Canada with a separate Provincial for each Province from Quebec westwards. In 1946 the Provincials were
