Introduction

The records of the General Board of Mission and the Board of World Mission are described in three inventories. This inventory describes accession 1988-1001 which contains the records of the foreign missions. The accession consists of approximately 11.5 m. of correspondence, reports, publications and printed material. The records cover the period 1880-1980 but the main concentration is over the period 1940-1980.

Associated material is in accessions #1988-1002 and 1988-1003. Other associated material is held at the United Church of Canada Archives.

The records were arranged and described by Ian Moir, supervised by Kim Arnold in 1988. The work was funded by the Arrangement and Description Backlog Reduction Cost-shared Co-operative Program.

Historical Sketch

The mission work of the Presbyterian Church in Canada is directed by the Board of World Mission (B.W.M.). Originally known as the General Board of Mission (G.B.M.), it became the B.W.M. in 1972 through an Act of the General Assembly. The B.W.M. is concerned with the initiation, development and maintenance of missions. The B.W.M. is divided between foreign and domestic mission work. The foreign missions, officially known as Overseas Relations, is involved in the work of missions formed and operating beyond the Canadian federal boundaries, and acts as a Committee of the B.W.M. The Presbyterian Church in Canada, itself originating as a mission has a lengthy and rich tradition in the area of foreign missions.

Overseas Relations has a very broad and varied scope of responsibilities. Embodied within the responsibilities of Overseas Relations is the foundation of new missions, leading the ministry at missions, directing and encouraging native ministry and in conjunction with this, seeking to establish and run proper educational facilities for theological education. Social functions, such as elementary education and basic health services, which are often neglected by the state, become the responsibility of the mission. Overseas Relations assists missions in the task of constructing schools, hospitals and places of worship. While helping the mission get under way, providing guidance to native church leaders, and directing mission organization, the ultimate aim of Overseas Relations is to see a mission evolve from being governed by a mission council to become self directing and self sufficient.

Mission work in foreign fields is often synchronized with other major denominations in the world such as the U.S. Presbyterian Church, the United Church of Canada and the Roman Catholic Church. Furthermore, national and international church organizations like the World Council of Churches and the Canadian Council of Churches are involved in much of the co-ordination of mission work and missionary education. The primary focus of the Presbyterian Church in Canada's mission work has been in Asia, Africa, India and the Caribbean. Often these missions are established in nations troubled by internal problems and thus missions are often caught in the centre of political storms. To this end, some background material on these controversies has been kept with the mission material. Overall supervision of Overseas Relations is maintained at the Administrative Offices of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, which are located in Don Mills, Ontario.

Scope and Contents Note

The material in this collection covers a period from approximately 1880 to 1980, though the primary focus is restricted to the years between 1940 and 1980, and was transferred to the Archives at various stages between 1968 and 1984.

In order to utilize this finding aid most efficiently, it is important to understand the filing code devised for this collection. In order to ensure unique file identification codes for each file a special four character code was devised.

Essentially the code consists of four distinguishing parts:

- (1) Series - recognized as either a 100 or 200 number
- (2) Subseries - recognized as the last digits of either the 100 or 200 series
ie. 201 or 112
- (3) Section - Identified by a letter character ie. A, B, C.
- (4) File number - Arabic Numerals

Consequently a file might be coded like this:

104-F-12 - Series 100

Subseries 04

Section F

File number 12

or

209-B-9 - Series 200

Subseries 09

Section B

File number 9

There are two major division in the collection; these are represented by the series number. All files belong either to the 100 or the 200 series.

100 Series - represents all the specific missions

200 Series - represents material associated with Overseas Relations, but not related directly to a specific mission

Within the two series are a number of subseries; these are represented by the two final digits of the series number. The subseries for the 100 series are outlined here, the 200 series is delineated later:

- 101 - Presbyterian Church in Taiwan
- 102 - Caribbean Assembly of Reformed Churches
- 103 - Presbyterian Church of Nigeria
- 104 - Korean Christian Church in Japan
- 105 - Church of North India
- 106 - China
- 107 - Malawi - Church of Central Africa
- 108 - Afghanistan - International Mission
- 109 - Nepal - United Mission
- 110 - Presbyterian Church of Korea
- 111 - General Geographic Area

Within each subseries are a number of sections. These vary slightly from subseries to subseries. These sections are defined by an alphabetical character.

The final segment of the file identification code is the file number (arabic numeral), which provides the assurance that each file within the collection has a unique code.

The years which bracket the material are provided for each file and appear following the file identification code (F.I.C.). Each file is titled with the subseries information and the specifics of the section information.

The types of material contained in each file are listed under the file title. All non-textual material, including Photographs, maps and blue prints have been removed from the collection. A notation in the file description has been made, wherever such material has been removed.
