WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY (WESTERN DIVISION) FONDS 1885-1999

Introduction

This fonds consists of approximately 23 metres of correspondence, publications and other records generated by the various departments of the Women's Missionary Society (Western Division) of The Presbyterian Church in Canada. The records cover the period 1885-1999, but the main concentration is from the period after 1925. The arrangement and description of 1988 accessions was undertaken by Elspeth Reid, supervised by Kim Arnold. Additions were made in September 1989 by Elspeth Reid. The appraisal, arrangement and description of 1991 to 2000 accessions was done by Judith Pudden, supervised by Kim Arnold. Series descriptions were added at this time. Little reorganization was done on the 1988 accessions, with the exception of removing Mission Studies from the publications section of the finding aid to the Mission Studies section of the Organization/Education Department.

The records arrived in the Presbyterian Archives at various stages having lost their original order. Certain groups of files, notably the personnel files, had been kept together, but many were scattered. Most of the individual files were intact, but within the records of the Overseas Executive Secretary/Executive Director of Overseas Missions, the contents of a number of files had clearly been disrupted. These files were divided up according to their subject matter and allocated descriptive file titles where necessary. There were also a large number of files, deposited at an early date, which contained newscuttings, clippings from The Glad Tidings, typescript articles and letters. The original material has been retained in this collection: much of it proved to be the records of the editor of The Glad Tidings but some were found to be records of some of the honorary secretaries for the mission fields and therefore were placed with the appropriate secretary's records. The secondary material has been retained in a separate reference collection. Ephemeral material and duplicates have been removed from the collection.

In December 1988 a further small deposit of loose papers was transferred from the offices of the W.M.S. (W.D.). These papers included a box of correspondence and copy reports and lists from the Church union period, 1924-1927. The papers were catalogued in September 1989 as accession #1988-7010 and inserted in this finding aid under the appropriate provenance but in addition a heading of church union was included in the General Records section of the finding aid to assist researchers.

In 2000 the remaining records of the W.M.S. (W.D.) that were in the Archives, as well as the Records Centre, were described, with the help of financial support from the Canadian Council of Archives and the W.M.S. (W.D.). The general structure of the original finding aid was maintained, and the new records were fitted into the appropriate series, with some new series added. In some cases, the order of the sections within the series, and the series themselves, were altered in order to more accurately reflect the hierarchy of the W.M.S. (W.D.). Series descriptions were also added, where appropriate.

The work was funded by the Arrangement and Description Backlog Reduction Cost-Shared Co-operative Program of the Canadian Council of Archives (CCA) and by a grant from the Women's Missionary Society (Western Division) of The Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Historical Sketch

The Women's Missionary Society (Western Division) was formed in 1914 with the amalgamation of the Montreal Women's Missionary Society, the Women's Foreign Missionary Society (Western Division) and the Woman's Home Missionary Society. To date there have been three significant changes in the organization and structure of the W.M.S. (W.D.) within the Presbyterian Church since 1914: in 1925, when the membership was divided between the continuing Presbyterian Church and the United Church of Canada; in 1948 when the W.M.S. (W.D.) became a society within the Presbyterian Church instead of part of a Board; and in 1971, when the employment of women missionaries was transferred to the Board of World Missions. These changes affected primarily the relationship of the W.M.S. (W.D.) to the General Assembly and the staffing structure at the national level.

Organization at the local level was inherited from the three amalgamating societies that formed the W.M.S. (W.D.). The basic groups were the Auxiliary, which was organized within the congregation, and the Presbyterial, whose boundaries were co-extensive with the Presbytery. The Presbyterials of the different societies were amalgamated in 1914 and the work of each Auxiliary was extended to include both Home and Foreign Missions. In addition, in 1914 Provincial Boards were established to oversee the work of the Presbyterials, and the Presidents of these Boards were given membership of the Executive Board of the W.M.S. (W.D.) in 1917. In 1946-47, in conjunction with a re-organization of staffing at the national level, the Provincials were replaced by Synodical Societies whose boundaries were co-extensive with the Synods. At the national level the W.M.S. (W.D.) was run by a Council, which was held annually, apart from a period between 1930 and 1937, when it was held biennially. The Council was composed of delegates from Provincials and Presbyterials. The purpose of the Council was to make general policy decisions and any constitutional changes and to elect the officers and executive of the society. The Council Executive, composed of elected members and ex officio members, met monthly to make more detailed decisions. Any decisions that needed to be made between regular Council Executive meetings were undertaken by the Sub-executive.

The Constitution of the W.M.S. (W.D.) in 1914 stated that the Society shall be auxiliary to the Home and Foreign Mission Boards to The Presbyterian Church in Canada. Its aims and object shall be to unite the women and children of the church in prayer and service for the advancement of the Kingdom of Christ; to develop a missionary spirit; and effectively to aid these Boards by supporting women's work at home and abroad¹.

The financial resources of the W.M.S. (W.D.) were brought specifically under the control of the Foreign and Home Mission Boards by several other clauses in the constitution. Meetings were to be held in Toronto "for the better transaction of business with the Home and Foreign Mission Boards,"² while the financial transactions of the society were to be "subject to the approval of the Boards to which the Society is auxiliary."³ Thus the W.M.S. (W.D.) was established as a supporting organization, useful for raising additional funding for mission work but with no control over how that funding was to be disbursed or over the women missionaries or their placement in the missions fields. Policy on missions was completely in the hands of the Home and Foreign Mission Boards.

Between 1914 and 1925 the work of the Council Executive and its committees was based on volunteers living in Toronto or within reach of the city. Honorary Secretaries were appointed for each of the overseas and national mission fields which the W.M.S. (W.D.) supported, and these secretaries corresponded with the women missionaries, relaying information about the missions to the members of the society, mainly through the pages of The Missionary Messenger and pamphlets and other publications of the W.M.S. (W.D.). Very few records survive from this period as much of this correspondence was conducted on a personal basis. The society had little administrative work at this point, and its main emphases were on the education of the women and children of the church in understanding missions and the raising of financial support for mission work.

In 1925 the United Church of Canada was formed and many of the members and officers of the W.M.S. (W.D.) entered the union. The non-concurring members who remained Presbyterian were very active in supporting the work of the Presbyterian Church Association prior to the union and were involved in encouraging women to participate in the voting process leading up to the union. Once it was clear that the union was to take place, the non-concurring members of the Council Executive began to make contingency plans, establishing a provisional executive and arranging a meeting of Council for the day after the union was to take place. Unlike the debate in the Maritime Provinces, where there was a reasonably amicable division of the W.M.S. (E.D.), the argument in the W.M.S. (W.D.) paralleled the bitter dispute in the larger Presbyterian Church and members of the Executive on both sides of the issue were drawn into personal conflict.

Following the 1925 union and consequent disruption of the Presbyterian Church, the W.M.S. (W.D.) re-organized itself. Perhaps because of the strength of the W.M.S. (W.D.) organization and membership, or perhaps because of its contribution to the continuing existence of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, the constitution of the W.M.S.(W.D.) was revised by the General Assembly, and the Council Executive was made in whole or in part...a constituent part of the Assembly's General Board of Missions.⁴

Thus the W.M.S. (W.D.) ceased to be merely a means of fund-raising and support, and became a significant part of the mission work of the Presbyterian Church. From 1925, instead of simply supporting women missionaries and deaconesses, the W.M.S. (W.D.) began to employ these women. The placement of missionaries and deaconesses remained in the hands of the General Board of Missions, as did the opening up of new mission fields, but the W.M.S. (W.D.), as a part of General Board of Missions had some influence in these decisions, and the appointment of women in response to requests from the General Board of Missions became the work of the W.M.S. (W.D.).

From 1925 the W.M.S. (W.D.) also began to employ administrative and clerical staff, and to divide its work into four main areas: organization, publications, overseas missions and national missions. The policy decisions were still in the hands of the Council and the Council Executive, and much of the work was still undertaken by honorary secretaries.

The Organization Department was the first to employ administrative assistance. In 1925 four organization secretaries were appointed to work with adult and children's groups. The Organization Department dealt with the Provincials, Presbyterials and Auxiliaries, and also with the affiliated groups which included the Canadian Girls in Training and children's and young women's groups. One of the main responsibilities of the Organization Department was setting the annual or biennial mission study themes and, with the publications department, providing missionary education resources for Auxiliaries and affiliated groups.

As well as publishing mission study material, the Publications Department produced biographies and memoirs of missionaries and other pamphlets concerning mission work in Canada and overseas. The other major means of disseminating information on a regular basis was the periodical, The Glad Tidings (1925-). Like the Organization Department, the Publications Department was primarily concerned with missionary education, which later developed into an interest in Christian education

The work of the W.M.S. (W.D.) in the mission fields in Canada and overseas was disrupted following the establishment of the United Church of Canada. Individual missionaries had to choose which church they wished to serve under. The mission fields and properties were divided between the two churches. Of the overseas fields in which the W.M.S. (W.D.) had an interest, the Presbyterian Church was allocated Jhansi and the Bhil Field in India, north Formosa and British Guiana. Shortly after this allocation was made, the Presbyterian Church began to plant new mission fields, notably among the Koreans in Japan, using continuing Presbyterian missionaries from the Korean field which had been allocated to the United Church. In Canada the Presbyterian W.M.S. (W.D.) retained mission work among the Chinese in Vancouver and Victoria and with Indians in residential schools but began new work in other areas. Increasingly in this period the W.M.S. (W.D.) was involved in the decisions about new missions, participating in deputations to Japan and India, for example, to assess the state of work there and the potential for growth. The structure of the two missions department throughout this period of change remained essentially the same with reliance on voluntary honorary secretaries to maintain correspondence with the missionaries.

By 1946 the demands on the W.M.S. (W.D.) were such that there was a need for a re-organization and for more full-time, salaried administrative staff. In particular, the re-opening of mission fields and the influx of refugees to Canada following the end of the Second World War gave the impetus for re-organization. In December 1946 the Re-organization Committee recommended the establishment of salaried Executive Secretaries for both the Overseas and the National Missions Departments and in due course an Executive Secretary for organization work. The posts of honorary secretaries for the various national missions were discontinued, except for the Secretary for the Chinese in Canada, which continued until 1948. The responsibilities of these posts were transferred to the National Executive Secretary. The honorary secretaries for the various overseas missions continued their work until 1948, while the Overseas Executive Secretary dealt with the administration. In 1952 an Executive Director of Organization was appointed. In 1953 the National and Overseas Executive Secretaries were re-named the Executive Director of National Missions and the Executive Director of Overseas Missions, while an Executive Director of Publications and another Executive Director were appointed.

Along with these changes in the staffing structure, the Constitution of the W.M.S. (W.D.) was altered. Synodical Societies replaced Provincial Boards, which effectively divided the work in the heavily populated provinces of Ontario and Quebec and also provided a closer parallel between the structure of the W.M.S. (W.D.) and that of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. The Executive of the W.M.S. (W.D.) also ceased to be a constituent part of the General Board of Missions and instead the W.M.S. (W.D.) became a society within the Presbyterian Church in Canada, reporting directly to the General Assembly.

The period following these staffing, organizational and constitutional changes was one of growing professionalism. The administrative staff increased, as did the number of deaconesses and women missionaries whom the W.M.S. (W.D.) employed. The W.M.S. (W.D.) also began to deal directly with the partner churches of the Presbyterian Church in Canada and with the Mission Councils of the various mission fields. The Presbyterian Church in Formosa was provided with an administrative secretary by the W.M.S. (W.D.) and the W.M.S. (W.D.) were consequently very involved in supporting projects and the women's organization in Formosa (later Taiwan). A new mission field opened up in Nigeria in the early 1960s through co-operation between the W.M.S. (W.D.) and the Church of Scotland, and there are a number of useful records which deal with the work of women missionaries and nurses during the civil war crisis in Biafra and Nigeria in the late 1960s. Within Canada the W.M.S. (W.D.) contributed to the work of Presbyteries, Synods and the General Board of Missions in inner-city missions, fellowship houses and work with immigrants and ethnic groups. A particularly well-documented area of work was that with Native Canadians in the Indian Residential Schools in Manitoba and Ontario, and in Fellowship Houses in Kenora, Ont. and Winnipeg.

During the 1960s the W.M.S. (W.D.) was closely involved in the debate in the Presbyterian Church in Canada on the role of women. The ordination of women gained acceptance and it was generally acknowledged that women should take an equal part in the mission and administration of the church. At the same time the Administrative Council of General Assembly set up a committee to review the structure of the church. As a result of these two moves, it was decided to bring all mission work under one Board, and this led to the transfer of the work and staff of the national missions and overseas missions departments to the new Board of World Missions in 1971.

Since 1971, the W.M.S. (W.D.), along with the W.M.S. (E.D.) has been the main vehicle for representing women within the church administration. It has representation on many of the Boards of the church and reports to the General Assembly. The W.M.S. (W.D.) now works mainly in Christian education and lay leadership training through its Auxiliaries, Presbyterials and Synodicals, and through its publications department.

Fonds Description

Women's Missionary Society (Western Division) fonds. – 1885-1999. – 23 m of textual records.

Historical Sketch: [please see the Historical Sketch on page 2].

Scope and Content: The fonds consists of approximately twenty-three metres of minutes, reports, correspondence, publications and other records generated by the various departments of the Women's Missionary Society (Western Division) of The Presbyterian Church in Canada. The records reflect the work of the W.M.S., both in mission work overseas and in Canada, in welcoming and assisting new immigrants to the country, in representing women within the administration of the church, and in the work of the Society in developing and promoting Christian education and lay leadership training through its Auxiliaries, Presbyterials and Synodicals, and through its publications department. The fonds has been arranged into eleven primary series: Records of the President, Records of the Secretary, Records of the Council, Records of the Council Executive, Records of the Organization Department/Education Department, Records of National Missions, Records of Overseas Missions, Records of the Publication Department, Records of the Finance Department, WMS Personnel/Profiles and General Records of the W.M.S. These series are further divided into sub-series, and in some cases into sub-sub-series. Although these records cover the period 1885-1999, the main concentration is from the period after 1925.

Notes:

Source of supplied title: Title based on the contents of fonds.

Alpha-numeric designations: Fonds consists of the following accessions to the Archives: 1988-7001 through 1988-7011; 1989-7001 and 1989-7006; 1990-7001 and 1990-7008; 1990-7009 through 1990-7015; 1991-7001; 1991-7003 through 1991-7021; 1992-7001 through 1992-7031; 1993-7001 through 1993-7013; 1994-7001 and 1994-7002; 1996-7001 and 1996-7002; 1997-7001 and 1997-7002; 1998-7001 and 1998-7002; 1999-7001 through 1999-7005; and 2000-7001 through 2000-7004, 2001-7002.

Immediate Source of Acquisition: These records were transferred to the Presbyterian Church Archives from semi-active storage in the Records Centre of The Presbyterian Church in Canada, through a number of different accessions beginning in 1988. Some material, such as accession #1999-7004, was transferred directly to the Archives from the W.M.S. offices [consult the relevant accession records for more details].

Arrangement Note: The records are arranged by provenance and listed under the Council or Council Executive, the Officers of the W.M.S., or grouped into the appropriate administrative department. Although the four administrative departments were not formally defined and staffed until the 1947-54 re-organization period, the division of the work into the four areas was generally accepted by 1925, and had its beginnings as early as 1914. Thus the records of the honorary secretaries who preceded the executive secretaries have been placed under the relevant administrative departments. The reporting structure of the Society has dictated the placement of committees, with those reporting directly to Council placed with the Council files, and those reporting to the Council Executive placed in that series. The committees in charge of the departments have been placed with the departments.

The records are described to the file level. For the 1988 accessions, where a grouping of similar files exists, a more general description has been given under the first file in the group and this description is applicable to all the remaining files in the group. In the national missions and overseas missions departments the files and file groups have been listed by mission fields or the general area of work. Personnel files, which are restricted for seventy-five years, are listed in alphabetical order under the name of the individual concerned. The name or initials of the husbands of married women are given in brackets.

The periodicals are listed in chronological order. Periodicals are located in the periodical section of the Archives and should be requested by title and year of issue. Missing issues are indicated in brackets with the prefix "ex." Memoirs and biographies are listed in alphabetical order by the name of the individual concerned. The other publications are listed in alphabetical order by title. For ease of access, some unpublished manuscripts have been included in this series.

Restrictions on Access: Access to Personnel files is restricted for 75 years from the date of the last document in each file. These restrictions are noted in the file lists.

Terms governing publication: A single copy of items in the fonds may be made for purposes of research and private study. Authorization must be obtained from the copyright holder if protected material is to be used for any other purpose. Protected material cannot be published without permission from the copyright holder. For information on what material in the finding aid is protected under copyright, please consult the Archivist or Assistant Archivist.

Finding Aid: A detailed finding aid is available at the Presbyterian Church Archives.

Associated Material: This collection does not contain all the records of the W.M.S. (W.D.). Records for the period 1914-1925 are held at the United Church Archives, in the Women's Missionary Society, Presbyterian Church in Canada collection. The main bulk of the records for 1864-1914 of the predecessors of the W.M.S. (W.D.) are in the custody of the United Church Archives. Related material is also held in the records of the Foreign Missions Committee and other mission committees and boards of the Presbyterian Church held at the United Church Archives.

Accruals: Further accruals are expected.

Related Material: Some records of the predecessors of the W.M.S. (W.D.) are held in separate collections at the Presbyterian Church Archives and the relevant Finding Aids should be consulted for this material. Related records can also be found in the General Board of Missions/Board of World Missions in the Presbyterian Church Archives.

General Note: The work was funded by the Arrangement and Description Backlog Reduction Cost-Shared Co-operative Program of the Canadian Council of Archives (CCA) and by a grant from the Women's Missionary Society (Western Division) of The Presbyterian Church in Canada.

RECORDS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES AND TREASURER

From at least 1925, the Board of Trustees has been made up of five members, elected by Council. One member must be from the Council Executive; this member serves as Chairman. The purpose of this Board is to hold the properties of the W.M.S. in trust.

The Treasurer, like the President, is an elected, unpaid officer of the Council. Originally, the Treasurer took a much more active role in the administering the accounts of the W.M.S. As the Society became more professionalized, the paid Assistant to the Treasurer began conducting the day to day business, with the Treasurer serving as the authority for transactions.

Scope and Content

This series consists of minutes, correspondence and financial statements, as well as deeds and other title papers, and material relating to insurance policies. The records of the Board of Trustees and the Treasurer have been maintain as one series, as they were filed together in the W.M.S. office. The records cover the period 1885-1996

RECORDS OF THE COUNCIL

The Council is the legislative body of the W.M.S. With the exception of a period in the 1930's the Council has met annually to receive annual reports and determine policy. Until 1947, the Council consisted of the officers of Council, Council Executive, the Presidents and other officers of the Provincial Boards, representatives from the Provincial Societies, and the President of each Presbyterian Society. After 1947, with the change from Provincial to Synodical boundaries, Synodical officers and representatives naturally replaced the Provincial members. The Council is now made up of elected Synodical delegates, the elected members of Council Executive and Ex-officio and non-voting members. The Ex-officio members are those from other Boards and Councils of the P.C.C.

Scope and Content

This series consists of material from the Annual Council Meetings, including minutes, addresses and services, constitutions of the W.M.S., annual reports, and material relating to committees and task forces that reported directly to Council. The records are from the period 1915-1999.

RECORDS OF THE COUNCIL EXECUTIVE

The Council Executive is the administrative body of the W.M.S.(W.D.). In 1925, it consisted of the Presidents of the Provincial Societies, and other elected members. The elected officers of Council are also members. In the early years, the Council Executive members were nominated by Council, and elected by General Assembly. As the Society gained more autonomy in the 1940's, the Council took over the task of electing members.

The Council Executive is in charge of conducting business between the Annual Council Meetings. Should issues arise between the regular Council Executive meetings, the Sub-executive, made up of members of the Council Executive, is empowered to make decisions. In 1975, the Sub-executive began meeting jointly with the Staff Policy Committee; in 1981, the Sub-executive took over all decisions relating to staff policy, and the Committee was disbanded.

Up until 1980, the Departments of the W.M.S. (Finance, Education and Publications) and their various committees were in charge of their respective work. In 1980, the Council Executive established working groups in the areas of Finance, Personnel, Adult Work, Youth/Children's Work, Editorial, and Book Room. The Departments and Committees were subsequently disbanded, with the new Working Groups, under the purview of the Council Executive, taking over all decision-making capabilities.

The position of Executive Secretary began in 1952 as the Executive Director of Organization, a salaried post mainly in charge of education. In 1972, after the responsibility for mission work was transferred to the Board of World Missions, the Organization Department was renamed the Education Department, and the Executive Director became the Executive Secretary, now with responsibilities expanded outside the field of education. The Executive Secretary eventually evolved into the head of the W.M.S. staff. For this reason, the Executive Secretary is included in the records of the Council Executive.

Scope and Content

This series consists of minutes, correspondence, reports and other material relating to the activities of the Council Executive. This includes material on the planning for Council meetings, as well as the preparation of the Annual Report. The records of the Executive Secretary, the Honourary Secretaries and committees reporting directly to the Council Executive are also present. This includes the Working Groups that were created in 1980; for the records of their predecessor committees, consult the records of the appropriate department.

The records of the Sub-executive can be found in two locations within this series. For the years when the Sub-executive met jointly with the Staff Policy Committee, the records are listed under the section titled 'Sub-executive/Personnel/Staff Policy Committee. For all other years, the records are listed under the heading for the Sub-Executive.

Personnel records of the office staff have been included here, as well as material on strategic planning and restructuring. The planning and restructuring took place across the P.C.C. as a whole; the records here are those specifically pertaining to the activities of the W.M.S.

This series also contains material related to Indian Residential Schools. It consists of material collected as part of the ongoing effort to redress the issue of abuse in the schools. Minutes and correspondence of committees active in this effort are also included here.

The records of this series cover the years 1924-1995.

RECORDS OF THE ORGANIZATION DEPARTMENT/EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

The Organization Department began in 1925, and did just what its name suggests, as well as taking on the work of mission education. Four Organization Secretaries were appointed to work local groups. The Organization Department also served as the liaison with Auxiliaries, Presbyterials, Provincials, and later Synodicals. The Organization Department employed Area Educational Consultants, to assist in their work with local groups.

In 1952, an Executive Director of Organization was appointed. When the Board of World Missions took over responsibility for missionaries in 1971, the Director of Organization became the Executive Secretary, with expanded responsibility outside the Organization Department.

When the National and Overseas Departments of the W.M.S. were eliminated in 1971, the Society, which had always done mission education, began to focus its efforts in this sector. In 1972, the Organization Department became the Education Department and expanded to include the Book Room and Editorial Committees, since these were so important to the educational work of the W.M.S.

In 1980, further restructuring took place as Working Groups were established in the areas of Finance, Personnel, Adult Work, Youth/Children's work, Editorial and Book Room. The following year, the Education Committee, and consequently the Education Department, were disbanded with the Working Groups now reporting directly to the Council Executive.

Scope and Content

This series consists of minutes, correspondence and other material relating to the Organization and later the Education Departments and their sub-committees, as well as personnel files of the Area Educational Consultants employed by the Society, and mission studies and other educational material produced by the W.M.S. The records of the various Secretaries in charge of educational work can also be found here.

The majority of the records are from 1926-1980, as the Department ceased to exist at that point, and its responsibilities transferred to the Working Groups reporting to Council. The exceptions are the files relating to Area Education Consultants, and the mission studies, which extend to 1995. They have been kept here as it would seem the most logical place for a researcher to look for them. Additionally, these two sets of records were some of the few to be transferred to the Archives relatively intact, and this order has been maintained. The two accessions of A.E.C files have been integrated, as they were both organized in the same fashion.
