Notes on using the Finding Aid

First consult the fonds description (fonds being an archival term used to denote the whole of the records created by a specific individual or family and held within an archives). The fonds description includes a biographical sketch of the individual or family that created the records, a scope and content note which briefly describes the records within the fonds (this generally starts with "Fonds consists of..."), and several notes at the bottom, which provide information on access restrictions and copyright restrictions.

Some finding aids also provide series descriptions and subsequent pages which further describe the records within the fonds.

After reading these descriptions consult the file list and notify an archivist of the individual files you wish to view.

Mark Young Stark family fonds. – 1723/4-1917. – 1.54 m of textual records. – 8 photographs : b&w. – 1 set of architectural tools.

Biographical Sketch:

The Rev. Mark Young Stark was born on 9 November 1799 in Dunfermline, Scotland. His mother, Elizabeth Young of Cleish Castle, died when he was just an infant and his father died when he was fourteen. His stepmother was Mary Bannatyne, whose family operated the Glasgow to Stirling Railway. He studied in Essex, England and then took his MA at the University of Glasgow, graduating in 1821. He continued his studies in the theological faculty and upon completion in 1824 was licensed to preach by the Presbytery of Glasgow in the Church of Scotland. However, he was unable to secure the required patronage to receive a charge and instead spent time as a tutor and later conducted further studies on the European continent. During this time, he also learned several languages, studied art in Rome, and developed a keen understanding of botany. By the early 1830s he was still without a charge in Scotland and decided to serve as a missionary for the Glasgow Colonial Society. He was appointed to Upper Canada and shortly after his arrival was ordained as minister at Dundas and Ancaster. He served as minister in Ancaster until 1854 and in Dundas until his retirement in 1863. In 1844 he presided as moderator over the Synod of the Presbyterian Church of Canada in Connection with the Church of Scotland, and although he desired unity within the church, he eventually sided with those who broke away to form the Synod of the Presbyterian Church of Canada (generally known as the "Free Church"). Following this disruption, he was elected moderator of the new Synod. He served as clerk of the Presbytery of Hamilton for many years and also as convener of the Home Mission Committee. Mark Young Stark married Agatha Georgiana Street, daughter of Colonel Street of Ancaster, in 1835. They had five children together: Robert, Mary Ann, Elizabeth Mary, William Geddes, and Mark Dugald. Mark Young Stark passed away on 24 January 1866.

Scope and Content:

General Notes:

The sketches and drawings are in fairly good shape, however, the scrapbooks themselves are falling apart. The spines on both are mostly broken and the pages are quite acidic. Many of the sketches have been glued to the page. Acid-free tissue paper has been interleaved between those pages that have sketches or drawings. The three paintings have been placed in acid-free files with tissue. Both scrapbooks have been wrapped in tissue and tied with cotton ribbon.
