Livingston Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

Baden Presbyterian Church was established in 1890. A church building was constructed on property held by Mr. James Livingston in that year. The congregation voted to remain Presbyterian at the time of Church Union in 1925. In 1934, a large addition was made to the back of the church to house a new pipe organ, heating system, kitchen and several other rooms. This congregation dissolved on June 27, 2021.

Barney's River-Marshy Hope Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

Barney's River-Marshy Hope Presbyterian Church has its origins in the congregations of Barney's River Presbyterian Church (est. c.1817) and Bethel Presbyterian Church, Marshy Hope (est. 1929). A Presbyterian church was built in Barney's River as early as 1817, however, the first settled minister to serve the church was the Rev. Dougald MacKeichan, in 1833. In 1859, this congregation built a new church, which continued to be used until 1954 when it was destroyed by fire. In addition to the "Kirk" congregation, a Free Church congregation was established in Barney's River in 1848, with the Rev. D.B. Blair, from Scotland, being called as minister. He served the Free Church congregation until 1890. In 1896, the "Kirk" congregation and the Free Church congregation amalgamated under the name of Barney's River Presbyterian Church. In 1925, the congregation voted to remain part of The Presbyterian Church in Canada. Bethel Presbyterian Church, Marshy Hope, NS, was established in 1929 by families of the eastern part of the Barney's River Pastoral area that voted against Church Union. A church was built in 1929. In 1985, the congregations in Barney's River and Marshy Hope amalgamated to form Barney's River-Marshy Hope Presbyterian Church.

Barrie, Ontario

Essa Road Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: August 2025

Historical Sketch

Essa Road Presbyterian Church in Barrie, Ontario was established in 1892. The congregation first worshipped in a church building at 26 William St. in Allandale, before building a new church on Essa Street (later named Road) in 1901. The name of the congregation was officially titled Allandale Presbyterian Church at a congregational meeting in 1904. The terms Essa Street and Essa Road Church were also sometimes used; however, it wasn't until 1961 that the name was officially changed to Essa Road Presbyterian Church, Barrie. The congregation dissolved in 2018.

Barrie, Ontario

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church (Barrie, Ont.) was officially organized in 1849. The first minister was the Rev. Thomas Lowry. The first church building was completed in 1850. From 1853 until 1866 St. Andrew's was a joint charge with Essa and Innisfil. In 1866, St. Andrew's was separated from Essa and Innisfil and became a mission station until it joined with Guthrie. In 1872, St. Andrew's, Barrie became self-supporting. A new church was dedicated on February 25, 1883. During the time of Church Union in 1925, St. Andrew's voted to remain with The Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Beamsville, Ontario

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

The Beamsville congregation's first Church opened in 1840. It's first minister was Rev. George McClatchey, who also served the Clinton and Grimsby congregations. In 1868, Beamsville and Clinton were organized into a separate pastoral charge. The congregation dissolved in 2016. The congregation voted in favour of Church Union, but the continuing members of the Presbyterian Church opposed the outcome due to discrepancies with the Roll and Communicants and other irregularities with the voting process. A formal application was made to the Ontario Church Property Commission to declare the vote invalid. The vote was not overturned, but the Commission ruled that the Morrow Fund should be given to the continuing congregation to purchase a Church for their use. The Beamsville Presbyterian Church was re-established in June 1926 with the induction of Rev. John Lennox. In 1929, the congregation purchases the I.O.O.F. Hall and changed their name to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. It was, for many years, a two-point charge with Smithville. The congregation dissolved in October 2016.

Beauharnois, Quebec

St. Edward's Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

St. Edward's Presbyterian Church in Beauharnois, Quebec was established as a united charge with St. Andrew's, Chateauguay, in 1833. The first minister, the Rev. Walter Roach was called through the Glasgow Colonial Missionary Society. In 1844 the congregation remained in connection with the Church of Scotland but about half the congregation left to form a separate congregation of the Presbyterian Church of Canada ("Free Church"). Following the Disruption, the congregation at St. Louis was served by the minister of St. Edward's until 1851 when the charges were separated. The united charge of Beauharnois and Chateauguay was separated in 1907. In 1925 the congregation of St. Edward's voted to remain in the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Beechwood, Ontario

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Beechwood, traces its origins to the mid-1830's when a congregation in connection with the Church of Scotland was begun in Williams Township, Ontario. The first minister, the Rev. Duncan McMillan was inducted in 1839. The Disruption in the Church of Scotland in 1843 caused an upheaval in the congregation, with some members wishing to remain with the established Church of Scotland and others wanting to join the "Free Church". The issue was resolved in 1852, when those members wishing to remain with the Church of Scotland were given the church building and those wishing to join the "Free Church" formed a new congregation later called McPherson Presbyterian Church. By the late 1860s the congregation had grown to the point where it was decided to build two churches - one at Beechwood and one at Nairn. The Beechwood Church opened in 1871 and the Nairn Church in 1872. Although members worshipped in two different buildings, it was still essentially one congregation, with a joint-Board of Managers (until 1890) and a joint-Session (until 1944). In 1944, the congregation was officially separated into Nairn Presbyterian Church and St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Beechwood. By 1947, however, the Nairn congregation had dissolved with most of the members joining the congregation in Ailsa Craig, Ontario. In that year, St. Andrew's Beechwood was linked with Knox, Centre Road and West Adelaide, Kerwood, to form a three-point charge.

Knox Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

Knox Presbyterian Church was organized in the 1840's as a mission station of the Presbyterian Church in Canada and was established as a congregation in 1850. It was joined with the congregation in Yarmouth (known as Kilmartin Presbyterian Church and later as St. James, North Yarmouth) under one Kirk Session until 1889 when this union was dissolved. However, the two congregations remained linked as a two-point charge. Knox Presbyterian Church in Belmont closed on April 28, 2008.

Binbrook, Ontario

Knox Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

Knox Presbyterian Church in Binbrook, Ontario was established in 1843. In that year a church building was constructed and dedicated by the congregation. The Rev. George Cheyne, who was the congregation's first minister, served the joint charge of Binbrook and Saltfleet until 1875. He also ministered to Presbyterians in Eastern Seneca, Abingdon, and Caistor. The Rev. William Walker served from 1875-1899. In 1922, Binbrook and Saltfleet were separated. From 1922 to 1925, Binbrook was linked with the church in Blackheath. At the time of Church Union in 1925, Binbrook remained Presbyterian while Blackheath joined the United Church of Canada. The Saltfleet congregation (which became Cheyne Presbyterian Church, Stoney Creek) also joined the United Church. In 1927, Binbrook and Carluke were linked as a two-point charge. They became self-supporting in 1952. In 1962, the church building was renovated and moved to its present site.

Black River, New Brunswick

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church was established in 1925 when the members of St. Stephen's congregation who decided not to join the new United Church of Canada found themselves without a place to worship. From 1925 to 1930, services were held in the Little Branch School House and private homes conducted by students and laymen living with members of the congregation. The first Communion Service after Church Union (1925) was held in Upper Black River schoolhouse 30 November 1928 led by Rev. William Stewart, Chatham. In July 1929 a resolution to build a church on land in Black River was offered by John Gibson was passed and a building committee appointed. Within a year the church was built by local carpenters.

The new church was dedicated on 18 July 1930 as St. Paul's church by Rev. J. W. Paul of Bathurst, Moderator and Clerk of the Presbytery. It was served by ordained Ministers and students throughout the 1930s and 1940s. On 4 September 1930 the congregation of Black River met with Richibucto and Kouchibouguac to pool their resources and provide a salary to an incoming minister. It was decided the three wanted a "single" man to operate the three "preaching stations". In 1950 Kouchibouguac formed a pastoral charge with Chatham and searched for their own ordained minister without Black River. After 1950 St. Paul's church usually had its own minister.

Blue Mountain, Nova Scotia

Knox Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

Knox Presbyterian Church in Blue Mountain in Pictou County, Nova Scotia, traces its origins 1818 and the arrival of Highland Scots settlers to the area. Services of worship were held by the congregation outdoors or in the homes of some of the families until 1834 when a church was built in Blanchard, Nova Scotia. Sometime later, during the ministry of the Rev. D.B. Blair, a new church was constructed by the congregation on the south corner of the intersection of the Sherbrooke and Blanchard roads. A third church was built in 1908. In 1925 the congregation voted to remain part of The Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Munro Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

Munro Presbyterian Church, in Blueberry Mountain, Alberta, was established in 1936, and forms part of the Presbytery of Peace River within The Presbyterian Church in Canada. Except for the years between 1945 and 1964, and again from 1970 to 1972, Munro has been attached to Knox Presbyterian Church, Wanham, as the second point of a two-point charge, and has been served by the Minister of the church in Wanham. Between 1945 and 1964, a separate minister served Munro Church along with the church in Gordondale, and for the two years between 1970 and 1972, Munro Church was served by the Minister at St. James Church in Dawson Creek, BC.

Bluevale, Ontario

Knox Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: September 2025

Historical Sketch

In 1856, Presbyterians in Bluevale built a school which was also used for worship. It was recognized as an official congregation the following year and a church was built in 1866. A new building was later constructed in 1907 which became a United Church in 1925. The minority who voted not to join the United Church formed a new congregation, using Forester's Hall for their services. A new Presbyterian church was built and opening services were held in June 1927. The congregation dissolved in October 2011.

Bolsover, Ontario

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: October 2025

Historical Sketch

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Bolsover was organized as a mission station in 1866 under the care of South Eldon. In 1868 St. Andrew's was linked with Mud Lake and Digby as a three-point charge. In 1885 this charge was dissolved, and St. Andrew's was linked with Kirkfield. In 1938 Eldon Station was added to this charge, to form a three-point charge. St. Andrew's, Kirkfield amalgamated with St. Andrew's, Bolsover in January 2011.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church (Kirkfield, Ont.) was organized in 1862. In the same year a church building was constructed. St. Andrew's was affiliated with the Canada Presbyterian Church up until the time of Union in 1875 when it joined The Presbyterian Church in Canada. In 1887, St. Andrew's united in a two-point charge with the congregation at Bolsover. A second church was built in 1895, and a third in 1905. During the time of Church Union in 1925, St. Andrew's remained with The Presbyterian Church in Canada. On January 1, 1989, St. Andrew's, Eldon Station was amalgamated with St. Andrew's, Kirkfield. Eldon Station was established in the 1880's and was linked as a two-point charge with St. Andrew's Eldon (later called South Eldon) until 1935, when it was linked with St. Andrew's, Kirkfield.

Caven Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

Caven Presbyterian Church, Bolton had its beginnings in nearby Albion, when it was established as Albion Presbyterian Church in 1838. At that time the congregation was served by the Rev. Dr. David Coutts. In 1855, Albion inducted their own Minister Rev. Peter Glassford who served until 1873. A church building was erected in Albion in 1856 and a cemetery property may have been dedicated about that time. Records show the cemetery was definitely in existence by 1880-1881, and in 1975 a memorial cairn was dedicated in Albion Presbyterian Cemetery. In 1875, the congregation voted to move to Bolton, Ontario, where a new brick church was completed the following year. The old Albion church building was rented for some years, then was moved across the road and converted to a residence. With the building of the new church in Bolton, the congregation changed its name to Caven Presbyterian Church in honour of the Principal of Knox College and also the person who conducted the opening services of the new church. In 1880 and 1881 a manse was built adjacent to the church. In 1925, the congregation voted to remain within the Presbyterian Church in Canada. A new Christian Education Centre was completed in 1963 and the church was extended by the addition of a choir loft, organ and pulpit area. Caven was linked with two congregations over the years. In 1902 a sister church at Nashville was opened, and Caven and Nashville were linked until Nashville closed in 1998. The 10th Line King Presbyterian Church was also linked with the Caven-Nashville charge from 1944 to 1955.

Knox Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

Knox Presbyterian Church in Bracebridge, Ontario traces its origins to 1864, when several Presbyterian families joined together to build a church. The church was built on lot 6, Muskoka Road East (now known as King St.). A new church was constructed in the mid-1870s and dedicated on Dec. 17, 1876. This church was destroyed by fire in 1931 and replaced with a new building in 1932. At the time of Church Union in 1925, the congregation voted to remain part of The Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Bradner Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

Bradner Presbyterian Church was established in 1924 when a group of people met to worship in the community hall. A church was built in 1928. It was organized as a mission within the Presbytery of Westminster in around 1930. Land was purchased for a new church building in 1930 and the church was dedicated on March 4, 1932. For many years Bradner was a joint charge with congregations at Mount Lehman and Mission. In 1972, Dunn Memorial Church, Mount Lehman amalgamated with Bradner.

Brampton, Ontario

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Brampton, formerly known as Brampton Presbyterian Church, was established in 1877 with the amalgamation of First Presbyterian Church and Knox Presbyterian Church. Both the original Brampton congregations, First and Knox, were branches of rural congregations. First Presbyterian began as a branch of the Derry West, United Presbyterian congregation, in 1847. They worshiped in a schoolhouse on Queen Street, then built a church in 1848 on Church Street. Their first Minister was Rev. James Pringle, who served from 1848 to 1887. Later the Derry West congregation would move to Brampton in 1886 to join with what had by then become Brampton Presbyterian Church.

Knox was originally known as "The Brampton Presbyterian Church" when the congregation was established in 1853. A church was built and opened on John Street in 1855. The congregation was formed when the East Chinguacousy congregation (McConnell's Church), moved from its previous rural location on the 4th Line East. Serving this congregation after their move to Brampton, was the Rev. Andrew T. Holmes who had been called by the rural Free Churches of East Chinguacousy, Free Temple and East Toronto Townships, serving from 1849 to 1862. Eventually in 1855, the congregation of East Chinguacousy moved to the John Street Church, and part of the congregation of First Temple moved as well, when it was dissolved in 1865.

Following the 1861 union of the United Presbyterian Church and the Presbyterian Church of Canada (commonly called the "Free Church"), the two Brampton churches became part of the same denomination, the Canada Presbyterian Church. As a result in 1861, Brampton Presbyterian Church on John Street became known as Second Presbyterian Church. In 1865 it was renamed "Knox's Church". As mentioned above, the two congregations, First and Knox, amalgamated in 1877 to form Brampton Presbyterian Church. The "Brick Church" on Church Street was enlarged with the amalgamation and a gallery was built. The charge now included congregations at Derry West, Malton and Brampton.

The present church building at 44 Church Street, was completed in 1881; a Christian Education wing was added after World War I, with a second floor added to this wing several years later. The original Knox Church building (also on Church Street) was sold in 1878 and the First Presbyterian Brick Church was sold to the School Board. In 1925 the congregation voted to stay with The Presbyterian Church in Canada, although the Minister and over a fifth of the members moved to the United Church. In 1963, Brampton Presbyterian was formally renamed St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Brantford, Ontario

Alexandra Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

Alexandra Presbyterian Church in Brantford, Ontario was organized in 1845 as the Wellington Street United Presbyterian Church. In 1878, a new church building was erected, and the name was changed to First Presbyterian Church. Then in 1901, land was purchased on the corner of Peel and Colborne Streets and a new church was again built, and the name changed to Alexandra Presbyterian Church. In 1912, this building was transformed into a Sunday School and a new church was built next to it.

Brantford, Ontario

Central Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

Central Presbyterian Church in Brantford, Ontario was established in 1925 by the dissenting members of the three Presbyterian churches in Brantford that voted to join the United Church of Canada. From 1925 to 1927, the congregation worshipped in a gymnasium at the YMCA before purchasing the old Congregationalist Church on the corner of George and Wellington streets. This church served the congregation until March 1959, when during a windstorm, the spire collapsed onto the church. The building was demolished and a new church erected, with the dedication taking place on February 24, 1961. The Rev. G. Deane Johnston served the congregation as its minister for 40 years, from 1932-1972.

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

Sunny Hill and Briercrest Presbyterians formed a congregation on April 23, 1918. Services were held in Edwards Hall in Briercrest. At a meeting on February 20, 1919, the congregation decided to petition the Presbytery for permission to build a church, and at a meeting on May 20, 1919, it was agreed that the new church would be named Knox Presbyterian Church. The lots were purchased from the Canadian Town Properties Co., and the corner stone for the church was laid by Mrs. James Glen on September 22, 1919. Rev. H.W. Toombs was inducted as the first minister in June 1920. The congregation voted to remain Presbyterian at the time of Church Union in 1925. The congregation dissolved in 2023.

Brigden, Ontario

Brigden Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

Brigden Presbyterian Church in Bridgen, Ontario was established in 1925 when 42 people chose to return to The Presbyterian Church in Canada from the newly formed Brigden United Church. In April of 1927, the congregation bought the former Methodist church from the United Church's Sarnia Presbytery. During this time, Brigden Presbyterian Church remained a two-point charge with Bear Creek. In 1933, Knox (Dawn) joined with them to form a three-point charge. This was severed in 1973, when Bear Creek was placed in the same charge as Wyoming and Camlachie, while Point Edward joined Brigden and Knox (Dawn). A year later Knox (Dawn) was joined with St. Andrew's (Petrolia), leaving Brigden and Point Edward as a two-point charge. On September 30, 1987, the Bear Creek church closed its doors, and the congregation was amalgamated with Brigden. The Bear Creek congregation itself dates from 1843, when the Rev. William McAllister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Sarnia began providing services in the area. In 1855, the Bear Creek congregation was established as a mission station and a church building was erected. The Rev. John Gauld was inducted as the first minister. In 1867, the church was destroyed by fire. A new building was constructed and opened in 1868. This was in turn replaced with another building in 1910. In 1878, the church was joined with Brigden Presbyterian Church as a two-point charge. The Bear Creek congregation voted to remain Presbyterian at the time of Church Union in 1925. Brigden moved from being part of a two-point charge with Point Edward to being a single charge with its own minister in 2000. Brigden Presbyterian Church was dissolved on Nov. 3, 2002.

Brockville, Ontario

First Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

The congregation of First Presbyterian Church in Brockville, Ontario traces its origins to 1811, when The Rev. William Smart was called to serve as minister. However, it wasn't until March 17th, 1816 that the members of the first Session were ordained. The first church was dedicated on June 22, 1819, but was destroyed by fire on January 12, 1847. A second church was constructed shortly after, and served the congregation until 1879, when a newer structure was erected. The congregation voted to remain with The Presbyterian Church in Canada at the time of Church Union in 1925.

Brooke, Ontario

Chalmer's Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

Chalmer's Presbyterian Church, Brooke, Ontario, originally known simply as the Log Church, was organized ca. 1864. In 1875, this church was joined with Guthrie Presbyterian Church, Alvinston, and Cameron Presbyterian Church, Euphemia as a 3-point charge. In 1878, however, services at Euphemia were discontinued, and shortly after, so were services at the Log Church. During this time, members of the Log Church congregation worshipped in Alvinston. In 1888, the congregation in Brooke was re-established, and a new church building, Chalmer's Church, was opened in 1891. The congregation voted to remain within The Presbyterian Church in Canada at the time of Church Union in 1925. Chalmer's Presbyterian Church was dissolved in 1966.

Burk's Falls, Ontario

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

St. Andrew's, Burk's Falls was first organized in 1881 as a mission charge. A building was constructed between 1883 and 1885, and the congregation was formally established in 1885 as St. Andrew's. In 1925 the congregation voted to go into the United Church. The non-concurrents re-organized as St. Andrew's and the church property was bought from the United Church. In 1951 St. Andrew's was linked with Port Carman (formerly linked with Magnetawan) and Sundridge, Knox to form a three-point pastoral charge. In September 1959, Burk's Falls, St. Andrew's, Sundridge, Knox and Magnetawan, Knox were united as a self-supporting charge.

Burlington, Ontario

Knox Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

Knox Presbyterian Church in Burlington, Ontario was established in 1845 as Knox Presbyterian Church, Wellington Square. It wasn't until 1873 that the name of the town was changed to Burlington. Land was donated for a new church by Andrew and Martha Gage, and a small log building was constructed in the summer of 1845. The church was governed by a united Session with Knox Presbyterian Church in Waterdown, until 1877. In that year, a new church building was constructed as well. In 1925, after a second vote, the congregation voted to remain with The Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Burlington, Ontario

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church

Last Updated: March 2025

Historical Sketch

The congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Burlington, Ontario, traces its origins to 1822. The congregation was for many years known as St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Nelson, until Nelson became part of the City of Burlington. Settlers to the area were ministered to by The Rev. William Jenkins as early as 1816, and by 1819 by The Rev. William King. It was Rev. King who established the church in 1822 and served as the congregation's minister until 1853. The original church building constructed in 1822 was replaced with a brick structure in 1867-1868. The congregation voted to remain part of The Presbyterian Church in Canada at the time of Church Union in 1925.
