Historical Sketch

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Quebec City, dates its origins to 1759 and services of worship held by Chaplain, Rev. Robert McPherson for the soldiers of the Fraser Highlanders of General Wolfe's Army. Following the Peace Treaty of 1763 and the coming of merchants from Scotland and New England the congregation assumed civilian status and was known as the Scotch Congregation – in connection with the Church of Scotland. The congregation met for worship in space provided within the Jesuit College until a grant of land was finally provided in 1802. Construction on a church building was begun in 1807 and completed in 1810. Also on the site is a Kirk Hall, constructed in 1829 by the congregation as a Protestant School, and a manse, constructed in 1837. The congregation's fifth minister, The Rev. James Cook, was elected the first Moderator of The Presbyterian Church in Canada when it was formed in 1875.
